Leave a Legacy of Hope

Today, tomorrow, and for generations to come

Every breakthrough in cancer research starts with someone who believes a better future is possible.

A gift in your will to Cancer Research Trust New Zealand (CRTNZ) is one of the most powerful ways you can continue supporting cancer research in Aotearoa New Zealand. After you've taken care of the people you love, even a small percentage of your estate can help fund discoveries that will save lives for years to come.

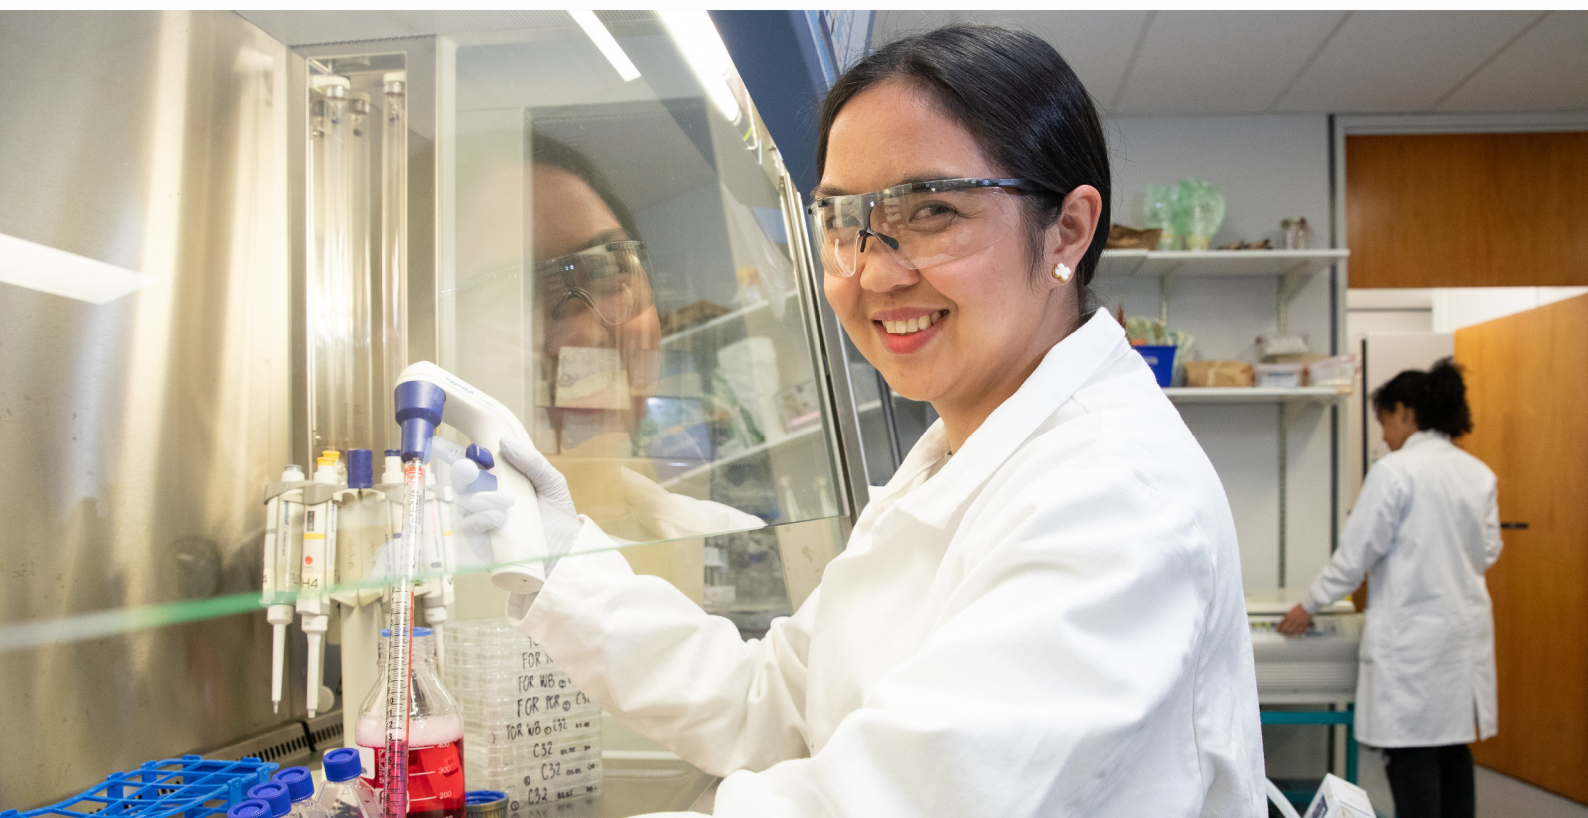

CRTNZ relies on the generosity from supporters, just like you.

Why Leave a Gift in Your Will?

Cancer touches almost every family in New Zealand. Thanks to research, more people are surviving cancer than ever before. Treatments are becoming kinder, diagnoses are happening earlier, and researchers are making discoveries that once seemed impossible.

But there is still so much work to do.

By leaving a gift in your will, you become part of the next generation of breakthroughs.

About Cancer Research Trust New Zealand

Cancer Research Trust New Zealand (CRTNZ) has a mission to grow innovation in cancer prevention, cure, and care. We are the only organisation in Aotearoa solely focused on funding cancer research across the entire cancer spectrum, from prevention and early detection to treatment and care at the end of life.

Everything that we do is guided by the knowledge that research is the only way to improve cancer treatments and that the next breakthrough in cancer could come from our own backyard.

Founded in 2002, CRTNZ has spent more than two decades investing in the boldest cancer research across New Zealand. We also fund scholarships and clinical fellowships for our best and brightest minds nationwide, with a focus on new ideas that need early-stage investment to get off the ground.

Our trusted, reliable and proven reputation within the sector attracts other charities to us who wish to partner to fund research, including Breast Cancer Cure, Melanoma New Zealand, Ovarian Cancer Foundation and most recently, Bowel Cancer New Zealand. This allows us to maximise our impact across the sector.

What sets us apart from many charities in this space is that we fund only the highest quality projects with the biggest potential impact, no matter the cancer type.

We have a rigorous process that draws on hundreds of leading cancer clinicians and scientists from around the world. Every application is carefully reviewed by experts to support the strongest, most promising projects.

A Gift of Any Size Makes a Difference

Many people think they need a significant wealth to leave a gift in their will. The truth is, after looking after your loved ones, even 1% of your estate can have a lasting impact.

Together, these gifts create a legacy that helps fund life-changing research for generations to come and every gift, no matter the size, helps us move closer to a future beyond cancer.

How to Leave a Gift in Your Will

1) Consult a professional

Make contact in person or via an online service with a financial or legal advisor, lawyer, or Will provider and ask them to:

- a) Make a Will (if you do not already have one) or
- b) Make an amendment to your existing Will. Provide them with our suggested 'Will wording' below.

2) Let us know

Once your Will is updated, if you feel comfortable, please let us know. We would love to acknowledge your generous contribution to Cancer Research Trust New Zealand.

Suggested Will Wording

I give and bequeath to Cancer Research Trust New Zealand, a charitable trust registered with the New Zealand Charities Commission (CC23672),

[the residue of my estate] OR

[% of the residue of my estate] OR

[my] (describe specify item(s) OR the sum of $.....

free from all duties and charges, as a contribution to Cancer Research Trust New Zealand to be applied for 'greatest needs', for which the receipt of Cancer Research Trust New Zealand shall be sufficient discharge to my trustees.
